CAPTURE REBEL CAMP AND SANDINO'S AIDE

Insurrectionists Flee Before Attack By Loyal Troops; Defenders Well Armed; Report Marines To Leave In November

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 29.—Nicaraguan national guardsmen led by United States marines captured the main insurrectionist camp near the Honduran border today and killed ten insurrectionists, including Florencio Silva, chief aide to Augustino Sandino.

Correspondence left by the insurrectionists when they retreated indicated Sandino took part in the fighting.

Marine Sergeants John Hamas and automatic rifles, pistols, grenades and bombs. The insurrectionists were believed to have fled across the Honduran border. It was indicated from the condition of their camp that they were packed and ready to move, but not in the direction they were driven by the guards.

The Nicaraguan press quoted American Minister Hanna as saying that all marines would be withdrawn from Nicaragua after the November elections.

OKLAHOMA PROBING DEATHS IN ILLEGAL OPERATIONS CASES

Osteopath Jailed And Surgeon Sought For Arrest

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 29.—Continuing his investigation into recent deaths believed caused by illegal operations, Lewis Morris, county attorney today said he believed "more than fifty young women and girls have died here in the past year" from such causes.

Since Thursday, when it became known that two University of Oklahoma co-eds had died within a week as a result of such operations, the scope of the investigation has materially widened.

Today an osteopath was held in jail, denied bond for preliminary hearing May 6, on a charge of murder. He was John W. Elmsinger, 50, named in the death bed statement of Virginia Wyckoff, pretty co-ed, as the man who performed the operation on her.

Another man, a physician, was hunted throughout the southwest on a similar charge. He was Dr. R. E. Thacker, against whom one murder charge has been filed, and two other complaints made. County Attorney Morris also wished to question him about a fourth case.

Morris named nine asserted victims of criminal abortions, and announced each case would be investigated. There were indications, too, that additional deaths will be revealed. The United Press was informed by a reliable source that "at least six other women have died at another hospital here."

Miss Wyckoff and Mrs. Frank Lee, 17-year-old bride of a university football star, both died at the Oklahoma City General Hospital, where they were taken after physicians found them in a serious condition.

No confirmation of the report regarding "another hospital" could be obtained immediately.

Mrs. Lee's death caused deep sorrow at the university, where her courtship by Lee had been a romantic college idyll, and her

BANKHEAD VICTOR IN FIGHT FOR SEAT

WASHINGTON, April 29.—John H. Bankhead, Alabama's junior senator, today occupied his seat unchallenged for the first time since the beginning of the session. The election contest brought against Bankhead by former Senator Heflin, Dem., Ala., who orated before the senate for five hours, was ended by a 64 to 18 vote in which Democrats presented a solid front and for Bankhead and only a minority of the Republicans voted for a declaration of no election.

The sixty-four votes for Bankhead comprised forty-one Democrats, twenty-two Republicans and one Farmer Labor member. Heflin, still defiant, characterized the senate action as "a rank travesty of justice."

TABER TELLS CROWD HERE MAJOR ISSUES AT STAKE ECONOMIC

Reasserts Dry Stand Addressing 500 At Tabernacle

Citing the federal government as being lax in the formation of a sound land and conservation policy, L. J. Taber, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, addressed more than 500 people at the Tabernacle, E. Third St., Thursday afternoon.

"The time has come," Taber declared, "for the United States to adopt a fair policy toward the great natural resources of the nation and at the same time conserve our natural resources for posterity."

Following his statement of Monday night in Youngstown where he declared he would not fully discuss the prohibition question again during this campaign, Taber dismissed the issue with a brief statement.

"I am dry," he said, "but I would be ashamed to stand before you on this platform this afternoon if that were my only qualification for the office I seek. I concede the right to any man to differ from me upon any question but I deny the right of any Republican candidate to rehash the philosophy and doctrine of the last defeated Democratic candidate for the presidency and

FOUR BOYS DIE AT CROSSING

Drive Auto Into Path Of Train

WOOSTER, O., April 29.—Confused by an approaching freight, four high school boys were killed when their automobile was struck by a passenger train at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing in Shreve, five miles southwest of here Thursday night.

The victims were John Morgan, 15, son of Paul Morgan; Richard Van Niman, 16, son of Guy Van Niman; Clark Harris, 15, son of Sewar Harris and Walter Campbell, Jr., 15, all of Shreve.

S. K. Ringler, the crossing watchman, said the signal lights were flashing as the automobile approached. A slow freight was coming from the east and the driver, John Morgan, apparently thought this was the reason the signals were flashing, Ringler said.

The car speeded up to cross ahead of the freight and ran directly into the path of the fast Broadway limited as it thundered from the west, Ringler related. The watchman said he whistled and waved a warning to the boys just before the car started over the tracks.

JURY ENTERS SECOND DAY OF CONSIDERING HAWAII HONOR DEATH

CONGRESS DEFEATS MOVE TO ELIMINATE HIRING RELATIVES

House Insists Upon Keeping Families Employed

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Evidence is at hand to disprove the frequent assertion that there is no backbone in congress. It depends entirely on what is at stake. In the matter of keeping wives and other relatives on the payroll, the house officially as a body and numerous senators and congressmen in particular are standing firmly for their rights against the widespread clamor for economy.

The house last night by a vote of 88 to 44 defeated an amendment to the general economy bill which would have prevented congressmen from employing any member of their families who do not actually perform the work for which they are listed on the congressional payroll.

Rep. Mowen, Republican, Ohio, offered amendment. He referred to yesterday's dispatch by this writer revealing that Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, among others, has three members of his family on the payroll, including his mother-in-law, who gets $2,850 but does not work, and his brother-in-law, who receives $2,220 and looks after the senator's political interests at home.

The house also defeated an amendment by Rep. Black, Dem., N. Y., to eliminate the franking privilege which gives congressmen free use of the mails. It did, however, reduce congressional travel allowances by twenty-five percent and the pay cut section of the bill will cut $235 from congressmen's $10,000 salaries.

If any member of congress had dropped his wife, daughter or other relative from the congressional payroll since the recent economy drive started, he is keeping it a deep secret.

There is, for instance, Rep. Joseph L. Hooper, Rep., of Battle Creek, Mich. His wife is on the payroll at $2,500 a year as his secretary, equal to the average pay of two government clerks. She is seldom at the office. They live at the swanky Carlton Hotel.

Speaker Garner was reported in an earlier dispatch as having his wife on the payroll as his secretary. She is, as was stated then, an exceptionally industrious worker. It is now learned the speaker also has on the payroll his son, Tully C. Garner, at $1,100 a year.

Tully lives at Uvalde, Tex., his home and in addition to managing his father's ranch and other interests, handles a good deal of congressional business in the district.

Rep. Edward E. Elsieck, Democrat, Tennessee, has his wife on the payroll at $3,200 a year. She was the guest of honor at a very elegant bridge luncheon at the National Women's County Club this week. In fact her husband frankly says she does not work. He explains that Mrs. Elsieck's salary is distributed among other clerks in his office.

Many members have various explanations. The customary one is either that the relative actually works or else that his or her salary is passed around to other clerks in the office who actually do the work. Another side of the story, heard frequently from those who work in congressional offices, is that some of the non-relative employees have to turn back part of their salary as "campaign contributions." As there are no records of such transactions, this alleged practice continues to be gossiped about with nothing tangible to cite as proof.

The practice of loading up the payroll with relatives has been vaguely known about, but had attracted little comment here, until the United Press began digging into the situation to find out just what was going on. Dispatches by the United Press revealing numerous instances are providing the first widespread public disclosure of conditions.

Individual amounts involved are small relatively. Their chief significance is in the attitude toward the taxpayer's money that is indicated.

Prosecutor Refuses Partial Verdict; Deadlock Seen

HONOLULU, T. H., April 29.—The mixed blood jury trying four Americans charged with the honor slaying of a young Hawaiian entered the second day of deliberations today, apparently deadlocked along racial lines without hope of a verdict.

Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis ordered the jury locked up for the night after defense attorneys had failed to win the prosecution's agreement to accept an eleven to one or ten to two vote for a verdict.

The jury was looked up at 10 p. m. Honolulu time (3:30 a. m. EST) and gave no indication of being close to a verdict.

Montgomery Winn, associated with Clarence Darrow in the defense, made the proposal when persistent rumors circulated that a majority were ready to acquit the four of the murder of Joe Kahahawai.

Prosecutor John C. Kelley rejected the plea on the grounds it was illegal. Territorial law, he said, permits less than twelve jurors to return a verdict but all must be unanimous. In event of the illness of one or two jurors the rest could bring in a verdict but only if they were in unanimous agreement, according to Kelley.

The jurors could be seen in their second floor room arguing the case. At times small groups on an outside balcony, talking among themselves in low tones.

Always the groups were composed of similar races. Five of the seven caucasian members conferred frequently, to be followed by a lull of the three half caste Hawaiian jurors. Observers felt sure that was an indication that racial lines were in sharp conflict.

As the hours passed without word from the deliberators, there was a growing belief that a hung jury would end the case in a mistrial. Unlike most states, territorial law provides that if two trials end in disagreement the defendants shall go free.

Judge Davis said he would give the jury a "reasonable time" to reach a verdict. It was believed he might hold them until Saturday night unless a decision is reached before.

"It must be remembered that this is a highly important case," he said, "and that a reasonable time should mean more than that allowed for ordinary trials."

Meanwhile the defendants, Lt. Thomas H. Massey, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Granville Fortescue and two navy seamen, A. O. Jones, and E. J. Lord, waited nervously for the verdicts in their quarters at a downtown hotel.

The four are charged with slaying Kahahawai last January to avenge a brutal attack on the naval officer's young wife, Thalia Fortescue. She testified at the trial that Kahahawai was one of five islanders who abducted and mistreated her when she went for a walk during a dance at Waikiki Beach.

Four verdicts were available to the jurors, a fact which may be prolonging the deliberations. Judge Davis instructed that Mrs. Fortescue, Lord and Jones could be found guilty of second degree murder as charged, or guilty of manslaughter, or not guilty. The same verdicts are possible in Lt. Massey's case with the additional decree of "not guilty by reason of insanity" since for him alone the insanity defense was offered.

HOOVER TAKES CUT

WASHINGTON, April 29.—President Hoover, although legally exempt from the government pay cut, had advised congressmen that he will take an 11 per cent reduction along with others receiving more than $2,500.

The reduction, allowing for the initial $2,500 exemption, will amount to $7,375 and will lower his $75,000 salary to $67,625.

The bill carries a provision authorizing the President, cabinet officers and others constitutionally exempt from pay cuts, to turn back to the treasury any part of their salaries.

Cabinet officers now receive $15,000 and an 11 per cent reduction would leave $13,625.

FROM MILLIONAIRE TO BRICKLAYER

Last year John J. Meehan was a millionaire construction company the building trade. Now Meehan is just a bricklayer, earning $14.50 a day. He is shown at work on the $22,000,000 New Metropolitan Life building annex in New York City.

DEMOCRAT ECONOMY BILL IS DWINDLING AS ITEMS SLASHED

President Calls His Advisors As Bill Shrinks

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The $200,000,000 Democratic economy bill already has dwindled to $136,000,000 and several large and controversial items remain to be acted upon by a house which is working its own will over the protestations of its leaders.

The house last night by 183 to eighty-four reaffirmed its approval of an 11 per cent reduction in all government salaries over $2,500. But this will save only $12,000,000. The economy committee and the Democratic leaders had wanted to cut salaries above $1,000 to save $67,000,000.

Before approving the pay cut, the house by 176 to 159 rejected President Hoover's "furlough" plan designed to place the government service on the equivalent of a five-day week. This had been estimated to save $80,000,000 a year.

The house also rejected the committee plan to eliminate Saturday half holidays. This cut $9,000,000 more from the total savings in the bill. Consolidation of the war and navy departments to save $50,000,000 remains to be acted upon and is believed doomed to defeat. Likewise the proposed $48,000,000 reduction in veterans' benefits.

With the economy bill thus steadily shrinking, President Hoover called an unexpected meeting of his financial advisors—Secretary of Treasury Mills, Governor Meyer of the federal reserve board, and Budget Director Kopp. Mills on leaving the White House indicated no new economy suggestions would be made by the administration pending final house action on the bill. It is too early to determine the effect of the house rebellion on the budget-balancing program. Savings of at least $200,000,000 are needed. But part of this will be made up if the senate persists in making ten per cent reductions in the regular appropriation bills.

In addition to the 11 per cent pay cut, the house in an overtime session last night approved items eliminating extra pay for overtime work, reducing travel allowances, including those of congressmen; requiring compulsory retirement for age; preventing promotions and filling of vacancies during the next fiscal year; and providing that in any reduction of personnel married women whose husbands are also working for the government shall be let out before any other persons in the same branch are dismissed.

The $12,000 and $15,000 salaries of members of the federal farm board, shipping board, federal reserve board, interstate commerce commission, tariff commission, reconstruction finance corporation and board of railway mediation were reduced to $10,000.

CADDY GROWS FAST FROM BUMP ON HEAD

CLEVELAND, O., April 29.—When Bernard Haag, 14, a caddy, was struck in the head by a golf ball, he received injuries which caused him to grow eight inches in less than three years, he charged in a $20,000 damage suit on file here today.

Lowell E. Southern of Lakewood, vice president of the D. C. Pierce Company, was named defendant. The pineal gland in the boy's head was injured, causing his abnormal growth, Dr. A. H. Bruening testified.

AMERICAN QUIZZED REGARDING PLOT TO ANNIHILATE GROUP

Seven Under Arrest; Reviewing Stand Of Parade Is Target

SHANGHAI, April 29.—The five highest Japanese officials at Shanghai, who played the most important roles in the recent Sino-Japanese engagement were wounded today by a bomb explosion aimed to annihilate Japan's Shanghai leaders.

The bomb was thrown on to the reviewing platform at a Japanese military parade. Japanese marines investigating the attack surrounded the home of W. S. Hibbard, an American employed by the Shanghai department of public works, which has charge of Hongkew Park, where the explosion occurred. Hibbard was understood to be undergoing questioning.

Seven men had been arrested, including the park keeper, who was said to be a foreigner. One man was severely beaten by the Japanese crowd. Three of the men were believed to be Koreans.

Out of the three, Fio Ki, 25, was believed to be the actual thrower of the bomb. He was held at Japanese gendarme headquarters.

Fifteen thousand Japanese celebrating Emperor Hirohito's birthday saw a bomb explode at the feet of officials on the reviewing stand where they were an easy target for the bombers. The crowd was singing the Japanese national anthem "Kimigayo."

The wounded, respective heads of the Japanese military, naval, diplomatic, and consular services here, were:

Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu; right leg broken; will be incapacitated for four or five months. Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, commanding naval forces, wounded in face and eyes, may lose eye sight.

General Yoshinori Shirakawa, commanding Japanese troops, wounded in the face. Consul-General Kuramatsu Murai, left leg injured, expected to recover in three or four weeks.

Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda, who commanded the ninth division in the Shanghai fighting, left arm injured. Lieut. Col. Walter Drysdale, American military attaché, and the French, British, and Italian military attaches left the platform

CATTLE MARKET FOR WEEK FLUCTUATES; NET CHANGE SLIGHT

Light Steers Most Active; Few Hogs Received

COLUMBUS, O., April 29.—H. E. Curry, of the Ohio Farm Bureau Research Department, reported today that the cattle market fluctuated during the past week, but that the net change in the level of prices was slight.

Steers of the lighter weights, he said, were the most active, and butcher demands a rather broad demand. Steers weighing 1,200 pounds and upward were reported steady until late in the week when prices broke twenty-five cents per hundredweight.

The farm bureau bulletin said hog receipts were light in the early part of the week under review, but that prices during the week declined to the lowest daily average top price since June, 1929. It was said that the character of the supply did not change materially although there was a larger percentage of unfinished hogs and a decrease in the number of heavy butchers.

Prices on fed lambs, Curry reported, slipped back about fifty cents a hundred pounds.

MANY DROWNED IN COLLISION

Thirty passengers were rescued.

Wanted—Love!

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

CHAPTER 54

MANY THINGS had conspired to excel themselves that night. Lillian had never felt in higher spirits. She never had worn a gown more becoming. No one could have been more attentive than Barry. Even bridge had been fun, with him her partner.

Too many of her thoughts had been of Barry for her to dwell on the fact that she was a hired guest. The sting of humiliation had been spared her for the most part.

But now in the library she toyed with several books, standing in front of a panel of them, with her back to the entrance of the room.

Her ears were strained. She could hear the voices of Barry and his mother in the drawing room. One voice was high-pitched, somewhat persuasive. The other was soft, purposely casual.

She knew Mrs. Carlton could not come right out and tell Barry the truth—that she had hired Lillian to interest him in her friends.

... and that because he had found her interesting, as a woman to a man, which had not been included in her carefully drawn blueprint, she was furious, disappointed, and wanted to end his acquaintance with Lillian.

"She couldn't tell him—all that!" Lillian kept saying to herself, eager to find some comforting thought.

She walked behind a narrow table and pretended to reach for a book a little above her head. The small table seemed to shield her a little.

Some one came into the room.

Lillian did not turn, but kept her back to the entrance and the person. She was so tense, so rigid, as if she expected to receive a blow, or some one to pounce on her.

Then a hand reached up and covered hers as she drew out a book from the shelf. It was a large, warm hand.

The little table was quite narrow and he could reach across it, and over her shoulder. Lillian thought of the table again as a sort of barrier, between her and the man she loved, as in reality there was a barrier.

She let his hand stay on hers, quietly.

It was nice, realizing that he had come in there to her, followed her, even though his mother had disapproved. And surely he knew she disapproved.

Lillian knew Mrs. Carlton had done her best to prevent Barry's coming, following. She had done about everything she could think to do, except make a scene.

"Tell me what you're thinking," Barry said.

Lillian half turned and sat on the table edge, looking over her shoulder at him.

"Things," she said, lots of them about you.

"Tell me—"

"You know so many of them, I think."

"You don't want to tell me, anyway."

"Yes—but I shan't try."

It wouldn't be fair to Mrs. Carlton, Lillian thought, to tell him. Mrs. Carlton hadn't been fair, exactly, in one sense of the word. Lillian didn't have to make matters worse, though.

They were silent and his hand still held Lillian's.

"Barry," Lillian said, "you don't know me—"

"I know all I want to know about you."

"But you don't know me, really—that's the trouble."

Something about his expression made her know that she had in a way voiced the same thought his mother had a few minutes before.

"But, that doesn't matter to me—"

"No—"

"No, why should it?"

She smiled back at him.

"I really don't need to know anything—"

"I wonder—"

Lillian's voice was tremulous.

"I didn't think anything like this would happen—to us," she heard herself saying.

"You sound as if you were apologizing!" his eyes were amused.

He leaned across the table and kissed her full on the lips.

"It isn't fair to make me love you like this," he said.

"Did I—make you, though?" she asked, seriously.

"Barry, I'm going away from you."

"No doubt. Of course you did!" laughing.

"No—tell me I didn't. Just say it anyway."

"You'd better say you're beginning to love me a little. That's what you'd better say!"

"Barry—say I didn't make you love me."

"You would have made me love you anywhere—anywhere I might have seen you—in London, in France, in Turkey, even if you were a fat wife of a Sultan—even if you were the least favored wife of all his fattest wives. I still would have loved you—because you would have loved me! So—now—" and he punctuated his speech with another kiss.

"I love you—" she said.

"It's just as well I would have made you—in about a minute!"

"It's all right that I love you, though—but—"

"Your mother wouldn't mind that."

"Come out from behind that table. I have to hold you, don't you know?"

She obeyed, simply, with him still holding her hand.

And then when she was almost in his arms, she said: "Barry—this is impossible!"

He looked puzzled, losing some of his gayness because of the seriousness of her face.

"Nothing is impossible, darling—" holding his arms for her.

"You mustn't love me—"

"I know, it sounds so trite, so hackneyed to say that to you—but you mustn't allow yourself!"

But he was coming toward her. She tried to move.

"Please—please help me—"

"Hold you—"

"Barry—"

"I can't help loving you so—"

Somehow she knew, too, he couldn't help it any more than she could. And she couldn't.

His arms came around her and her arms somehow found their way about him.

And there didn't seem anything in all the world of any importance outside of his arms.

"Tell me you love me, Lillian," he said. "I love you—"

Her head lay on his shoulder. Her lips somehow formed the words he last repeated. He kissed her again and again.

"Barry—I'm going away from you—"

He held her closer.

"You can't—ever—"

"Kiss me—so it will last—years and years—"

"Oh, my dear—"

And then Lillian bobbed back to reality—" somehow she sensed they were not alone in that room. Intuitively she knew some one was there, some one had been there during those long tremulous moments while she lay in Barry's arms—"

She remembered everything as completely as she had forgotten. But Barry still held her and his lips were on her hair.

"Let me go, Barry—"

"No—never—"

She tried to free herself. She trembled with fright.

Who's Who in Washington
BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Congressman Bertrand H. Snell of New York having been tentatively decided on by the Republican managers for the post of permanent chairman at the G. O. P.'s June convention in Chicago, no further discussion is necessary.

Congressman Snell will be permanent chairman. He is President Hoover's selection for the post or he would not have been picked tentatively. Any suggestion that the convention itself will not accept him would be equivalent to a suggestion that Mr. Hoover will not be renominated and all sensible folk are quite aware that such a suggestion would be perfectly ridiculous.

The Potsdam (N. Y.) representative is a good choice for the job, too. His fellow lawmakers did not confer the nickname "Hard-boiled Bert" upon the Republicans' present leader in the lower house of congress for nothing.

As a boss he has few equals. He proved it as head of the representatives' rules committee in Speaker Longworth's day. If any additional proof were lacking, he furnished it by the demonstration of remorselessness with which he grabbed the session's leadership away from Representative John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, who had a prior technical claim to it.

No steam roller tactics will be required to rush President Hoover's renomination through in Chicago, but rows may develop, which, if not promptly squelched, might destroy the harmony of the occasion. In particular, there are threats of a terrific fight over the wet and dry question.

If anybody can keep it under control, "Hard-boiled Bert" can.

BLAMES WORLD WAR FOR DEPRESSION

CANTON, O., April 29.—The World War was blamed for present economic difficulties by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, who spoke at the exchange club here today.

"You can't take the cream of our manhood and send them to the battlefield to be shot down, nor can you waste millions of dollars on war without feeling it sooner or later," Brown said.

Brown will speak at Alliance tonight.

death the tragic outcome of the couple's desire to keep their marriage secret.

Weeping openly, Lee told of his meeting with Nancy Joe Seay, of Wichita Falls, Texas, their brief courtship, and their marriage during the interval between semesters. "We didn't want the marriage annulled," he said. "That's what our folks would have done had they known of it."

He told of arranging for the operation of his wild rush to Oklahoma City from Norman, the university site, when he learned his young bride was near death.

"It was too late then," he said, "but we had her taken to a hospital."

Physicians at the hospital said "she was about dead when she arrived" there.

While deaths of the two co-eds aroused widest feeling, Morris named seven others he said he believed had died of similar operations. They were:

Mrs. F. S. Roach, died April 23.

Ruth Hall, 22-year-old Bethany girl. Died April 15.

Mrs. Isobel Ferguson, 22, died April 14.

Ethel Hestand, 30. Died April 8. Death certificate filed by Dr. Thacker.

Robbie Lou Thompson, died April 20. Dr. Thacker charged with murder in connection with her death.

Geraldine Easley, 19. Died March 19. "Patient admits criminal abortion," said the death certificate.

A girl named Epperson, said by her brother to have died two years ago after an illegal operation.

Morris said he had no plans now for filing charges against any additional persons. He said that, so far as he had learned, no other physicians were involved.

In addition to the wounded officials, Dr. T. Kawabata, a leader among Japanese civilians, was slightly hurt.

Japanese military constructed a barricade around the second bomb. It was found on the ground near the reviewing stand. The bomb consisted of a metal box one foot long, four inches wide, and two inches deep, and was believed to contain nitroglycerine.

Hongkew park is technically under the jurisdiction of the police of the international settlement but there were only a few police there this morning and all had left the park before the Japanese celebration began.

The park is in the midst of Chinese territory but is considered an extra-settlement area, such as certain roads outside the settlement. The entire area is occupied by the Japanese military at present, however.

Gen. Shirakawa, Japanese supreme war councillor, was placed in command of troops here when reinforcements arrived to aid the 9th division under Gen. Uyeda. Shirakawa is 62 years old and a veteran of the Russo-Japanese war and previous engagements with China.

Minister Shigemitsu has been the chief Japanese delegate at peace conferences with the Chinese here. He previously took an active part in exchange of communications between Japanese and Chinese officials which led to fighting in the Shanghai area.

Gen. Uyeda commanded the first big unit of troops brought into Shanghai. He was succeeded in the supreme command by Gen. Shirakawa.

Admiral Nomura took command of Japan's naval forces here when the expeditionary force was increased. He replaced Admiral Shiosawa who issued the first ultimatum to the Chinese.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

FRAMED
by Phil

Where is this young ball club Dan Howley started to build up? It is a safe bet that the Cincinnati Reds have one of the oldest ball clubs in the majors, counting or not counting the pitching. The Redlegs range in age from the 23 years of St. Johnson and Hilcher to the 40 years of Eppa Rixey, dean of major league hurlers. The average age of the present Cincinnati team, excluding pitchers, is slightly less than 30. Including pitchers, the average age is still slightly below 30. Thus it is only reasonable to assume that the average age of the nine Cincinnati pitchers is 30. And so it is. Thirty years is old as ball players go in the big leagues.

On the Reds' roster are thirteen players in their twenties, ten in their thirties and Rixey, who is 40.

The Cincinnati players and their ages follow: Benton, 34; Carroll, 29; Hiltner, 32; Johnson, 23; Lunsford, 32; Ogden, 29; Rixey, 40; Wagoner, 27; Crabtree, 26; Douthett, 31; Durocher, 36; Grantham, 31; Heath, 27; Heathcote, 33; Hellman, 37; High, 34; Manion, 35; Morrissey, 27; Roettger, 29; Hafey, 29; Gilbert, 30; Herman, 28; Lombardi, 24.

While in a critical mood, it may be pointed out that the Reds count on a dependable southpaw pitcher. Cincinnati's hurling staff includes only two left-handers. One is the aged Eppa Rixey, who cannot be considered dependable. The other is Harlan Wyson, the Clarksville, O., portside, who is inexperienced.

The Chicago Cubs claim to possess the youngest baseball club in the majors, not counting their pitchers. Pitchers excluded, the average age of the Cuban team is just above 26. The Chicago twirling staff is not so young, the average age is past 30.

Can it be that the Cincinnati club sacrificed too much defensive ability in favor of a batting punch that has not been revealed, except during a few early season games? In the first thirteen games the Reds made twenty-three errors, some of them costly. At this rate over the regulation distance of 154 games, Cincinnati would finish with 272 errors for the season. Last year the Reds made only 165 mistakes all season and ranked third in team fielding in the league.

P.S.—The howling of the wolves is now stilled for the moment. It develops that the Reds broke their five-game losing streak Wednesday by winning twelve hits to show their widely advertised "punch," and fielded in flawless fashion, not committing an error for the first time this year. Oh you Reds!

Cadets Open With Victory Over Ex-Highs

POWER ATTACK PUTS WINNERS IN FRONT; JONES TWIRLS ABLY

Losers Weak Afield; Throw Away Early Lead; Score 9-4

O. S. and S. O. Home cadet softball team, making its debut as a member of the American League, collected a dozen hits, received a good brand of pitching from R. Jones, and the net result was a decisive 9 to 4 victory over the Ex-Highs at Cox Field Thursday night. Serving advance notice of being a team to be reckoned with this season, the cadets wasted only three of their hits, clustering their bingles to the best possible advantage and capitalized upon loose fielding by the team composed of former Central High and St. Brigid High players.

R. Jones, pitcher for the cadets, got away to a shaky start when he permitted two hits and two runs in the initial inning, but thereafter he twirled effectively. In the last eight rounds, the Ex-Highs took few liberties with his educated deliveries.

Hornick, losing hurler, pitched good ball in spots, but his support was ragged in the pinches and he was the victim of bunched hits in the second and fourth stanzas.

Rowe, cadet second baseman, was the leading batsman of the contest, punching out a double and home run, while Huston, with a double and single, topped the Ex-High hitting.

The Ex-Highs staked themselves to a two-run lead at the outset on successive one-base blows by Shaffer, Banker, Glass and Price. This lead was shortlived, because in the second inning a single by Trumphour, two-bagger by Rowe, an error and singles by R. Jones and M. Jones resulted in three tallies for the Home team.

Once ahead, the cadets remained in front. They added another trio of runs in the fourth on singles by O'Brien and Marlon, an error and a hit by R. Blair.

A single by Price, an error and an out at first gave the Ex-Highs a run in the fourth and they scored another in the fifth on Banker's single, a walk to Glass and a double by Huston.

The last four innings were runless for the Ex-Highs. The cadets, however, were not satisfied. They manufactured two runs in the eighth. One was made the circuit when his line drive to center field was muffed, after which Rowe socked a homer. In the ninth they made their final run on a walk and three consecutive errors.

Coates Barbers and Anderson's Abattoirs, two of the outstanding National League teams, will clash Friday night.

COUNTY TRACK MEET AT WILBERFORCE U. FIELD IS REVEALED

Site Changed Again; Announce Events For Contestants

Marking the second change made in the place for the meet to be held, announcement was made Thursday by Supt. C. A. Devore, of Jefferson Twp. High School, that the new athletic field at Wilberforce University has now been selected as the site for the first annual track and field meet of eight Greene County Class B high schools Saturday, May 7.

Consideration was first given the Xenia fairgrounds as a site for the event. Later it was decided to shift the meet to Ross Twp. High School. Now it is revealed that the Wilberforce athletic field has been decided upon as the best available and best equipped site.

The program will start at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, according to Supt. Devore, chairman of the committee in charge. Supt. H. D. Furst, Cedarville, and Supt. R. E. Correll, Yellow Springs, are the other committee members.

Schoolboy and schoolgirl athletes of eight high schools, including Ross, Jefferson, Spring Valley, Bellbrook, Jamestown, Cedarville, Beavercreek, and Bryan of Yellow Springs, will compete.

The events for boys will be: 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, 880-yd. run, half-mile relay, high jump, broad jump, twelve-pound shot put, four and one-half pound discus throw, javelin throw and pole vault. Events open to girls are: 50 and 100-yard dashes, 220-yard relay, baseball throw and basketball throw.

Track and field athletes representing the O. S. and S. O. Home are entered in the Class B division of the first annual Ohio Wesleyan interscholastic relays to be held Saturday at Selby Field, Delaware, O.

The meet is expected to be one of the largest of its kind in Ohio this season. Forty-eight high schools are entered, represented by 598 schoolboy athletes.

BEARDED CUBAN BALLPLAYERS COMING SATURDAY

Led by its colorful manager, Ramiro Ramirez, the Cuban House of David baseball club, of Cuba, whiskers and all, will visit Xenia Saturday afternoon to engage the Xenia Merchants nine in an exhibition of the national pastime at Washington Park, the contest to start at 3 o'clock.

Ramirez, manager of the bearded team, acted in the same capacity on the last trip of the Cuban diamond stars through the States. Before this he managed the Havana Red Sox for many years, and played with such teams as the Lincoln Giants of New York City and Bacharach Giants at Atlantic City. He has performed in this country since 1915.

Ramirez' knowledge of professional baseball outside of the big leagues, is said to be unmatched. He has toured the West Indies to obtain the talent that is coming to Xenia, and has even made trips into Porto Rico and Venezuela in his quest for players of major league caliber.

Local baseball fans, when they see the bearded Cubans perform here Saturday, will be able to tell whether his scouting trip has been in vain. The pitching staff includes Tiant, Brown, Claxton, Diaz and Dixon.

Players making a big hit this season with the club are Galvez, six-foot, five-inch star pitcher in the Cuban Winter League "Lefty Grove" Tiant, southpaw hurler and Claxton, a full-blooded, long whiskered Indian, who played with Oakland in the Pacific Coast League. He is also a pitcher.

Each of the Cuban players is said to excel in his own position, especially Diaz, new catcher, who shares honors behind the plate with Lanusa. Diaz played out West with Molino's Cuban Stars in the National Negro League for several seasons.

Early arrivals at the park will be treated to an exhibition of "shadow baseball," a novel form of "pepper" handling of the ball performed by the Cubans.

CADET RIFLE CLUB WINS OVER DAYTON HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS

Captures Triangular Match With Stivers And Roosevelt

Handicapped in numbers only, the Cadet Rifle Club of the O. S. and S. O. Home visited Dayton Thursday night for a triangular rifle match and repeated more decisively a victory scored two weeks ago against rifle teams of Roosevelt and Stivers High Schools of that city.

Some of the cadet marksmen are also members of a softball team representing the Home, which played the same evening at Cox Athletic Field here, and the rifle club sacrificed all its ball-playing members except Phillip Schuck, going to Dayton with only five shooters.

The cadet team had a total score of 981 out of a possible 1,000 points. Roosevelt placed second with 894 and Stivers was third with an unfinished score. Garrett was high with 198 points for Stivers, but the remaining Stivers shooters had low scores and did not count them.

The match was fired on the Dayton police pistol range, located in the basement of the city building. Ralph McKinley and Lewis Wine, members of the cadet team, each had scores of 199 out of a possible 200. McKinley missed a perfect score by one-hundredth of an inch. Schuck was third with 197. Frank Alexander was fourth with 194 and Franklin Stabner was fifth with 192.

HOME ATHLETES IN SCHOLASTIC RELAY

Track and field athletes representing the O. S. and S. O. Home are entered in the Class B division of the first annual Ohio Wesleyan interscholastic relays to be held Saturday at Selby Field, Delaware, O.

The meet is expected to be one of the largest of its kind in Ohio this season. Forty-eight high schools are entered, represented by 598 schoolboy athletes.

Twenty-five of the entries are Class B schools, which will compete separately from the twenty-three Class A entries.

Each event on the program will be staged as a relay, and trophies will be awarded the team winners in every event of each division. Members of all winning teams will receive medals, while the school having the largest number of points will be awarded a plaque.

STAKE RACING DROPPED FROM FAIR PROGRAM

Purses Slashed By $1,700; Eleven Events Planned

Stake racing will not be a feature of the three-day harness program to be held in conjunction with the 1932 Greene County Fair in August.

Purse money offered for the eleven events which will make up the card for the meeting aggregates only $2,100 as compared with $3,500 last year, a reduction of $1,700.

According to the speed program for the county fair, announced Thursday, nine of the eleven races will be worth $300, and two events for colts will be valued at $200. In 1931 the purses ranged from a minimum of $300 to a top of $500.

Stake events have been an annual part of the fair racing for the last five straight years, but this year are being discontinued all over the state, except at the Ohio State Fair.

Entries for the class events will close at 11 p. m., July 28, and all races will be conducted under the three-hour plan, except the two-year-old trot and pace, which will be the best two out of three heats.

C. M. Austin, B. U. Bell and Grant Miller will again serve as the fair board members in charge of the speed department.

The three-day racing program follows:

Wednesday, August 3

TABER TELLS CROWD HERE MAJOR ISSUES AT STAKE ECONOMIC

advocate states' right and nullification as a solution."

According to Taber the major issues of the campaign are economic. He said that he believed the people of Ohio were far more interested in ascertaining the attitude of the candidates for the senate toward economic recovery of the nation, reduction of "confiscatory taxation," stabilization of business and the reduction of governmental expenses than they were in any other phase of the primary campaign.

Taber said that he was opposed to any cancellation of the foreign debt, that he favored payment of the soldiers' bonus as soon as possible and that he would be opposed to any sales tax on the necessities of life.

"We have had too much of internationalism," Taber concluded, "and too little of that true Americanism expounded by the great President and founder of the Republican party, Abraham Lincoln. I feel that the time has come when we, and the Congress of the United States, must think in terms of America first, last and always."

"Furthermore, I advocate deportation of all ineligible and criminal aliens. I want the wage envelope of the American laboring man given the fullest benefit of governmental protection."

Taber, who is master of the National Grange, was introduced by Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College.

The Rev. R. W. Knoop, pastor of the Spring Valley M. E. Church, chairman of the committee on arrangements for Taber's appearance in this city, presided.

Preceding and following Taber's address, musical entertainment was presented, featuring numbers by the Reveler's quartet of Cedarville College, the boys' and girls' glee clubs, composed of forty voices, from Wilberforce University, and a mixed glee club from Antioch College.

County-wide in scope, the meeting here was fostered by the Greene County W. C. T. U., county Granges, Greene County Farm Bureau and the Greene County Ministerial Association.

Sisters Know Their Cues

The four Albee sisters of Minneapolis, Minn., are shown at the N. V. A. Club in New York, where they are demonstrating their claim to the world's championship for a four-sister billiard team. Each girl is an expert in one particular branch of the cue game, but as a whole they are unbeatable, so they say. Left to right, they are: Aileen, Lauraine, Harriet and Fern.

AMERICANS WANT SOAP; OBJECT TO TAX

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The American people seem ready to fight for their soap. The proposal to tax toilet soaps 10 per cent along with perfume and cosmetics, under the next tax bill, has brought instant response. Women's clubs, teachers and parents associations, doctors, and probably a soap maker or two have followed the urge to "write a letter to your congressman." Congressional mail is filled with discussions of soap.

One letter from a physician says soap is a prime essential in hospitals and that the United States Marine hospitals spend more for it than for any other item on the supply list. The Ladies Aid of the Temple Baptist Church of Oklahoma City writes that "keeping clean is as much a necessity as food and clothing;" the Mothers Club of the same city pronounces that "soaps are necessities" and the Neighbors Club rank soap in importance right beside bread. Oregon, California and Colorado, as well as Oklahoma, seem particularly determined to save soap from taxation.

There'll be no more pictures taken for a while in the banking and currency committee room. Just as Rep. LaGuardia began to testify there in the stock market investigation, a photographer's flash lamp fell onto Senator Glass' chair and exploded, frightening a dozen senators pretty badly. All photographic equipment was ordered excluded.

Signs of spring in Washington include the appearance of Vice Chairman Thomas Walker Page of the tariff commission at a hearing in his shirt sleeves. He wears lavender suspenders. Chairman Cochran of the house of expenditures committee also has been going coatless at committee sessions this week.

ROUTINE BUSINESS

Routine affairs of the city occupied the exclusive attention of City Commission at its bi-monthly meeting Thursday night. The session was an abbreviated one and the commissioners adjourned less than an hour after they had assembled.

FAVOR ROOSEVELT

HONOLULU, T. H., April 29.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York will have the support of Hawaii's six delegates to the Democratic national convention. A territorial convention yesterday voted to support the New Yorker's candidacy.

COLLEGE STUDENTS FAVOR AMENDMENT

DELAWARE, O., April 29.—In contrast with result of the Literary Digest's national prohibition poll, Ohio Wesleyan University students enrolled in the first college course ever offered on prohibition voted 33 to 2 in favor of retention of the eighteenth amendment.

Five of the forty-five students taking the course declined to vote on the repeal proposal.

An impartial study of the subject was conducted—during the course. Wet and dry leaders spoke before the class. A poll of the class taken at the beginning of the course showed sixteen definitely dry, fourteen wet, nine others mildly dry and six undecided.

RESEARCH REVEALS ALL-BRAN RICH IN HEALTH-ELEMENTS

Helps Correct Constipation with "Bulk" and Vitamin B; Also Has Iron

Recent scientific research shows that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains two things needed to overcome temporary and recurring constipation. It has "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

These two important food-elements promote regular habits, and help do away with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy, so often the result of constipation.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild in action—much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using pills and drugs—so often habit-forming? Just eat two tablespoonsfuls of Kellogg's daily—enough for most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Besides, ALL-BRAN brings your body twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Equally tasty as a cereal with milk or cream, or used in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

day by the Ohio Board of Pardon and Paroles.

Prisoners sentenced from Greene County, and the date of their release, follow:

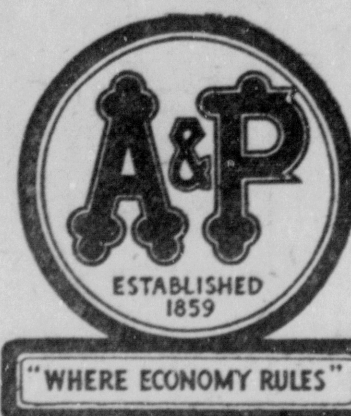

Martin Nooks, to be freed June 5, was convicted of burglary and larceny May 13, 1931, and sentenced to from one to fifteen years.

Alfred Dillard, to be released April 30, was also convicted of burglary and larceny the same date, and given a similar sentence.

Steve Cook, third prisoner to gain his liberty on parole, will be released May 20.

With the first annual Greene County Boys' Hobby Fair only a week away boys who have exhibits ready are asked to bring them to the Jobs Bldg., 23 E. Main St., Saturday afternoon or evening if possible. Entries will also be received Monday and Tuesday evenings and Wednesday afternoon and evening but it will avoid a last-minute rush if boys enter their displays as early as possible.

Xenia Rotarians, sponsors of the fair, will be at the room to receive exhibits and each boy will receive a receipt for identification purposes after the fair is over. Each exhibitor will also be given an exhibitor's badge.

DEBUT SPOILED

Pittsburgh police have spoiled her stage debut in that city for Marion (Kiki) Roberts, sweetheart of the late Jack (Legs) Diamond. When she arrived in town the safety director told her he would stop the show if her performance wasn't clean, then two police were detailed to watch her first-night performance, and report on it. Photo shows her in bed, recovering from an operation in Pittsburgh, just before the opening production. This is the first news photo taken of her since she was questioned in connection with the death of Diamond.

MARSHAL OTEY WALKER OF OLD HOME TOWN GOES DOWN TO WASHINGTON

NO WONDER THE COUNTRY'S GONE TO THE DEVIL

(This is the first of a series of dispatches by Marshal Otey Walker of The Old Home Town, from Washington, whether he was sent by the folks at home to see "what this tax mess is all about.")

By MARSHAL OTEY WALKER
Special Dispatch to The Old Home Town Weekly Clarion via The Central Press and The Gazette
WASHINGTON, April 28.—Well, here I am in Washington. I have been delegated by the Old Home Town folks to see what this tax mess is all about.
Two of our oldest and stingiest citizens say they'll go die on a desert isle if there's to be a big inheritance tax. They say they'll not only do that, but won't leave anything for the Home for Aged Cats. Aunt Sarah Peabody is all up in the air about that. She has four cats and some more coming. Some cats are coming at her place. But she's so kind hearted she drowns only half a dozen at a time. The others grow up and give the dogs hell.

Pictures Are Wrong
Washington isn't what it's supposed to be, by a darned sight. In all the pictures, there's the capitol and the White House. But that's not true. Oh, the capitol and the White House are here, all right—I guess. But there's as much space between them and between them as from Hometown to Hootstown.
When the train pulled in, I was thinking of running right over to the White House. I ran on the same ticket with Hoover—and got two more votes for town marshal than he got for president.

FEAR CAUSES BANK FAILURES IS CLAIM

COLUMBUS, O., April 29.—A majority of the bank closings in Ohio last year were attributed to fear, rather than to mismanagement or bad banking, in a resume by Ira J. Fulton, state superintendent of banks, in his annual report today to Governor White.

Bank executives and directors, alarmed by "the menacing hysteria rising from unfounded reports reflecting upon the solvency of their institutions," in many instances asked the state banking department to take charge of their banks, Fulton said, in order to preserve their assets and protect the interest of depositors.
Proposed legislation to "guarantee" bank deposits was vigorously opposed by Fulton in his report. "Wherever tried, the guaranty plan has not only absolutely failed to provide depositors with the promised protection but it has also penalized sound banking by requiring incompetently managed banks to support and maintain a fund for use in making good the losses of poorly managed banks," he said.

INSURES PAYROLL
DAYTON, O., April 29.—The agreement of three Dayton banks to purchase $30,000 worth of tax anticipation notes today had assured city employees of receiving half of the salaries due them on May 1. A committee of citizens and city officials has been named to consider ways of relieving the city's financial difficulties.

Fans Make Movie Star—Lack Of Talent No Bar

James Cagney, a young man from Broadway, was not slated for stardom when he signed a Warner Bros. contract and began working in gangster pictures.

But Cagney was one of those young men who click rapidly in the talkies. His gangster parts were followed by other roles calling for hard-boiled young moderns, and Cagney became so popular that Warners had to star him.

Now they have suspended him because he refuses to work for the salary his contract calls for, and there is justice on both sides. Warners, it is to be supposed, have the right to hold the contract over his head and Cagney, because of the box-office hit he has made, deserves more money. Many a con-

XENIAN ATTENDING M. E. CONFERENCE IN ATLANTIC CITY

Mrs. William Margee Wilson, N. King St., left Thursday afternoon for Atlantic City to attend the General Conference of the M. E. Church, which opens Monday, as a delegate from the Ohio Conference of the M. E. Church. Mrs. Wilson was elected first reserve alternate to the conference at a meeting of the Ohio Conference in September and received notification to serve as a delegate recently after one of the regularly-elected delegates was unable to attend.

Mrs. Wilson will serve on the educational committee at the conference. Delegates from all foreign countries will be present at the meeting, which is held once every four years. Mrs. Wilson considers it an honor to serve as a delegate as only a small portion of the delegates are women.

Mrs. Wilson was accompanied to Atlantic City by Dr. and Mrs. V. F. Brown, Dayton, and Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Swank, Springfield. Dr. Brown, former pastor at Trinity M. E. Church here, has served as a delegate to the conference many years and is a delegate this year from the general book committee of the conference. The conference will be in session a week.

TWELVE GRADUATE IN ROSS TOWNSHIP

L. L. Louthian, state high school inspector of the state department of education, was the speaker at the commencement exercises of Ross Twp. High School in the school auditorium Thursday night when Supt. A. F. Roush distributed diplomas to twelve graduates, including five girls and seven boys.

Honor pupils of the senior class also appeared on the program. The welcome was given by Perry Fletcher, the salutatory by Avanelle Irwin and the valedictory by Lillian Ford, who had first scholastic honors in the graduating class. The school orchestra furnished music.

A "Mass Day" program was scheduled for Friday, with the annual school alumni banquet planned for Saturday night at 8 o'clock. A program of entertainment was presented in the auditorium Friday morning, and in the afternoon athletic events were held.

HOUSE ROOF BURNED AT SPRING VALLEY

A portion of the roof of the home of Charles Reynolds, blacksmith, Spring Valley, was burned Thursday noon resulting in small damage which is covered by insurance. The fire is thought to have started from sparks from the chimney or from sparks from a train as the house is located near the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks.

The blaze was discovered by Jean Compton, 6, who notified the Reynolds family. The blaze was extinguished by the Spring Valley fire department.

GIRL SCOUTS of America

Plans for a Girl Scout rally here June 3 were discussed at a meeting of Girl Scouts in the Court House Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Plans were also discussed for a market in the Scout room, W. Main St., Saturday morning, and a rummage sale May 7. The girls spent the time Wednesday afternoon making May baskets.

Protects Woman's Delicate System

It is bad enough for a strong man to tax his system by taking harsh pills, candy and gum-coated drugs or other irritating cathartics. But the delicate feminine system should be guarded rigorously against needless shock.

Women, it is true, are peculiarly susceptible to constipation. Yet it is unnecessary and foolhardy to take chances with harsh, grating laxatives when you can so easily be on the safe side by taking French Lick Salts.

A skillful blend of the self-same restorative salines found in the waters of famous French Lick Springs, French Lick Salts is in reality a systemic regulator of the first order. It not only induces efficient evacuation, but activates the liver and gall bladder—tones up the system, clears the skin, makes you feel good all over.

Drop a little in cool water. Drink it while it effervesces. As pleasant to take as a fountain beverage! Are you overweight? The French Lick reducing plan will bring back suppleness. Ask your druggist today for French Lick Salts—50 cents.

ROSE IDENTIFICATION By DEAN HALLIDAY

Garden Expert for Central Press and The Gazette

"Shakespeare said a rose by any other name would smell as sweet, put just the same," complained a friend of mine, "the symbols given in the catalogues for roses always confuse me."

"Well, you're not the only amateur gardener to be confused by the catalog terms for roses," I replied, "especially where only initials are used for the various classifications."

Practically every beginning gardener wants to know what exactly is a Hybrid Perpetual (H. P.). What is a Tea (T)? What a China (C)? What especially is a Hybrid Tea?

Here, then, is the explanation for the most common classification:

T stands for Tea Rose. It is said to have been brought to England from China in 1810.

H. P. means Hybrid Perpetual. This rose was introduced in 1812 and was a cross between Hybrid China and the Damask roses. Despite its name the Hybrid Perpetual never was a real perpetual blooming rose. Only a few of the best types bloom in the autumn. As a result this rose is being supplanted by the H. T.

H. T. is the horticultural symbol for Hybrid Tea rose. This rose is a cross between the Hybrid Perpetual and the Tea roses and is now the most generally grown class of roses, for it is a real perpetual bloomer.
